

June 14-16, 2019 North American Refugee Health Conference

Sheraton Centre Toronto Hotel

The 2019 North American Refugee Health Conference is pleased to announce a repeat of our successful manuscript review activity!

Manuscript Consultations

With Dr. Paul Geltman, Associate Editor
Journal of Immigrant and Minority Health

Conference participants will have the opportunity to meet with Dr. Geltman on Saturday, June 15. Consultations will take place between 9:00 am and 11:00 am. Participants wishing to meet with the editor must submit a manuscript, abstract, or outline in advance of the conference.

Materials should be sent to pgeltman@franciscanchildrens.org. In a cover letter, participants must specify their goals for the consultation and relevance to JIMH. The editor will assign times to selected participants. The length of time will be determined by the number of requests but is anticipated to be 15 minutes. The schedule will be posted at the registration desk on the first day of the conference.

The purpose of the activity is to provide conference participants a mentoring opportunity on manuscript preparation and publication. Materials will be assessed on their likely interest to readership and generalizability. Dr. Geltman will offer a critique of content and manuscript structure and provide guidance on the submission and/or revision process (including guidance on critiques of manuscripts previously submitted to JIMH).

NOTE: This consultation does not substitute for formal submission to the Journal or the peer review process. It also does not entail any obligation or promise to publish manuscripts in JIMH. It does not rescind a previous rejection notice from the Journal.
